Understanding and support

It's All About Respect

First and foremost, be sure to let your parents know that you are there to support them no matter what.

Make sure your loved one is getting the proper healthcare he or she needs. Help them to maintain regular doctor visits.

Understand the overall aging process and what comes with it, including legal matters, financial situations, wills, healthcare, housing, etc.

When making changes, start small and work from there. Always work together on issues, and don't be afraid to take risks or ask for assistance.

Be sure to talk to your older loved one to see what they think about their situation.

Other Tips

- ✓ Be patient with your aging loved one.
- ✓ Be honest with them about your current situation.
- ✓ Don't just be there to care for them. Spend some recreational time with your loved ones.
- ✓ Keep things simple and easily understandable.
- ✓ Be clear about how you will help them, and always reassure them that you will be there for them.
